“ Tracy, Deb, and David and family, your Mum and Grandmum was such a pleasure to be with whether in bad times or good times. She was always kind, thoughtful, and appreciative of the smallest gift. The "thank you" was quick to be spoken not matter how ill she might have been. It is not the good times that define who we are, it is the bad times. The bad times were faced, not without fear, but with bravery and hope always! I always had the hope of her overcoming ever obstacle. We joked one time recently how everyone wants to go to Heaven, but no one wants to make the trip. We hang on to life (some more than others) because it is all we know, but Nancy knew there was much more after the life on earth was over. She overcame the desire to hang on to this world and was at peace to be at rest, to see her Warren and her Mum and family that had gone before. Beautiful, dear Irish Nancy Ann rest in peace! You will wait patiently until your children once again are united with you. When you see your neighbor, Alice, please tell her that you think her daughter-in-law really does a good job ironing. With love, Susan

“ It breaks my heart knowing that Nancy has passed. She was a wonderful, and kind individual who never had an unkind thing to say about anyone...

I have missed our times out in her screened in porch on Burley Street.

My deepest condolences to all of the family. Rest easy knowing that she is with Warren now.....

“ I never met Mrs. Taylor, but I believe that your children are an extension of who you are. Her daughter Tracy is a good friend and a wonderful person and that says much about her mom. I wish I had met her.
